Dear Group 22,

Your code is nicely structured, we like the separation into the different files and classes. Variable and function names are well chosen, however a few more comments would help to make the code more readable.

The repeated printing of the values during the training process is great for overview and checking the progress.
The Q-values or the end result are a bit hard to read this way though, here a more readable visualization would have been nice.

Best,
Group 20
